Media credentials will be issued only to recognized journalists representing newspapers, news services, baseball publications, regional and local television stations and other approved media outlets. Credentials must be requested by the editor, sports editor or sports director. Internet sites will be credentialed only if the site covers minor league baseball on a regular basis, and is consistently updated with original news and features. Enthusiast web journalists who have not previously covered events at Bosse Field should submit recent copies of baseball coverage in order to be considered for accreditation. Working media credentials will not be issued for employees in marketing, PR, promotions, sales, etc.
